MAIL THEFT IS A CRIME reaching epidemic proportions in the state of Washington, rising 60 percent in 1998 compared to 1997. The United States Postal Inspection Service reported that there were 10,574 mail thefts in 1998. For the criminal, the mailbox is the gateway to financial fraud, and victims are left with emptied bank accounts and shattered credit ratings. A prime target for mail thieves is the residential curbside mailboxes. What can you do to ensure that you mail is safe and your family does not fall victim to mail theft? A locking mailbox will offer you security for all incoming mail, protecting credit card statements, checks, shipment of new checks, and other documents that thieves can use to access your money and steal your identity. The locking mailboxes are constructed out of reinforced aluminum so they are 100% rust free, and designed specifically to resist the most common types of vandalism such as baseball bats. Only you will have the keys to open your locking mailbox. Mail carriers do not need a key to drop your mail off, they simply drop the mail through an incoming chute where it is held securely until you remove it. The drop chute of your locked mailbox is even large enough to allow a phone book to pass through it.
